The Yearbook

OF

BIRMINGHAM-SOUTHERN COLLEGE

BIRMINGHAM ALA.

1926

Prologue

UNSEEN, yet heard; intangible, yet cogent and mighty; directing the affairs of men; annihilating space; linking land with sea, nation with nation, knowledge, the greatest force-control, is typified in the quiet, efficient, yet potent spirit of progress that is being felt this year at Birmingham-Southern by faculty and student body alike.

For this reason, and to the end that the forward-looking, vision-inspired atmosphere of Birmingham-Southern's greatest year may be preserved for those who come after us, we have adopted knowledge as symbolic of the greatest dynamic force which is now in full sway at our Alma Mater.

Dedication

FOR the broad vision of progress and service to education do we most loyally dedicate this volume of "La Revue" to our friend and benefactor, Mr. Erskine Ramsay.

It is not so much an attribute of wisdom to accumulate wealth as it is to bestow it as to accomplish the greatest good; and to him who has encircled the hearts of all Birmingham-Southern men and women with highest ideals of our best traditions do we most devotedly give our appreciation for his character.

TODAY AND YESTERDAY

The Faculty

TO THE fair and impartial leaders, to the honest and upright men, brilliant and lovable teachers of our college we owe what knowledge it may be our lot to carry from the campus.

They serve well and faithfully, day in and day out, and the sum of their work is that we shall go forth as the leaders of the coming generation.

Guided by no mercenary motives, actuated by the highest ideals of culture and attainment, let the honor which is justly due be theirs!

EXOTIC

The moon tonight is a white Damascus scimitar—
And the shadows of pines are the moods of a Futurist pastel,
Sombre in lengthening greyness.
Stars behind pines and the wavering tremor of branches;
The stars are fireflies dancing with the wind's sweep.
And you eyes as I watch them in silence:
They are two flames that pierce me—like white hot needles of pain.

From The End Of The Trail. By James Earl Fraser

SENIORS

SOON the tramp of feet in these halls of our Alma Mater will resound by us unheard. Our task is done—it has just begun! For the labor here is but the preparation for the future. Our successes have been those of our own choosing. We have set aside the foibles of youth; we have struck the shackles of the unlearned from our minds; we gaze into the stern future and are unafraid—

Alma Mater, fear not for us in the days as yet unborn, we are ready to do battle and to win!

AFTER

Thanks, God—for unanswered prayers.
For restless frail dreams that found the far foot of Thy throne,
Only to perish, lacking Thy hand to revive them.
Thanks—for their cold, dead forms.

And thanks, God, for Beauty—
In its millions of fragile shapes, each bathed in moonsilver—
Crushed by Thy hand at dawn.

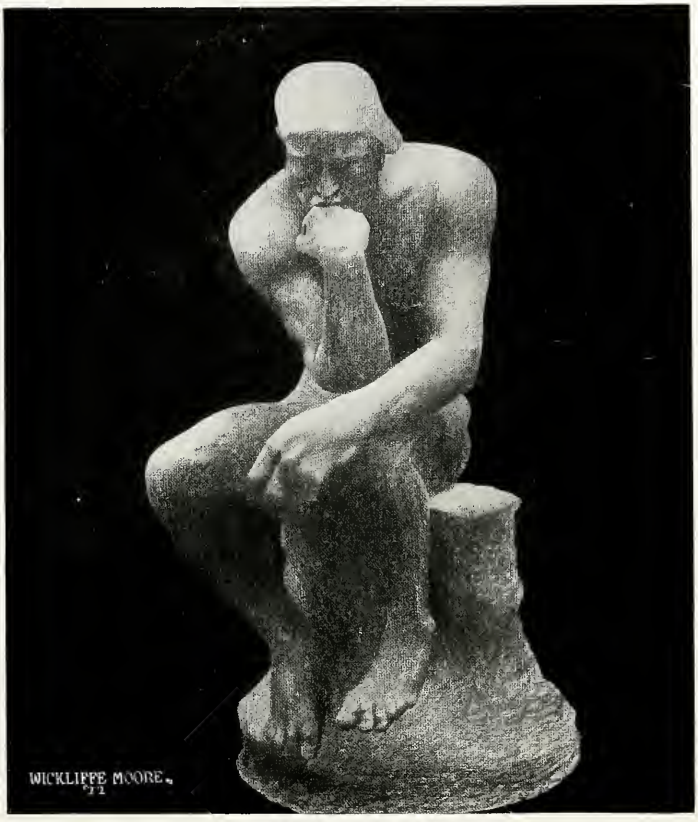

Thanks for it all God.
Teaching the vastness of Thine unknown, shadow ways.
I hope no more—
Send no more dreams to find the far foot of Thy throne.

—R. B.

OUR day is nearly spent, our course will soon reach its end. Thrice has the calendar changed its face, but once more and we, too, shall be of the historic past.

Diligently have we striven to uphold the many noble traditions and ideals of our college —the flesh is weak—in some have we failed, and we weep; in others have we most nobly succeeded, we glory in our triumphs, and pardonably so.

To those who come after we fling the challenge gauntlet upon the stone of our sacred halls, inscribed thereon the line—

"Ye, too, carry on!"

SOPHOMORES

SAY not we are proud and capricious of mind! Rather have the gentle hands of our Alma Mater softened our hearts and enlightened our minds to a clearer understanding of life.

Chasten us not for our childish pranks—'tis our last fling at youth; let us be merry while we may.

And when the morrow shall disclose the far-reaching vistas of grim reality, be not afraid—the challenge is not unheard—

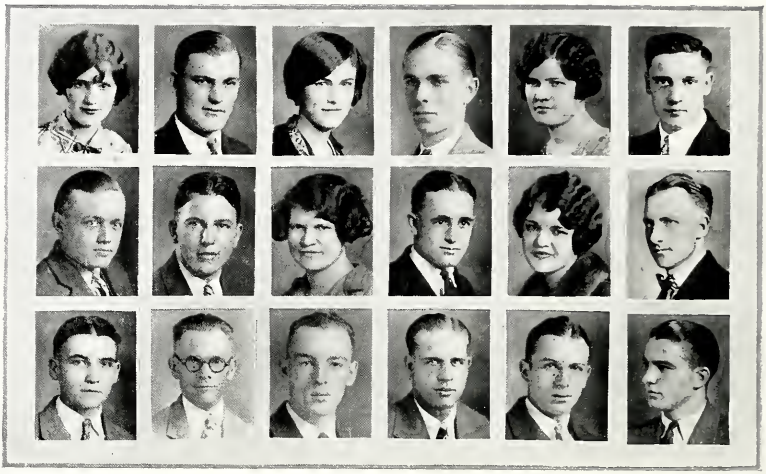

We shall be prepared!

FRESHMEN

From Meditation. By Ghiloni

THE achievements of those who have succeeded before us shall be but a thorn in our sides to goad us on, for we, too, would carve our names in honor in these immortal halls.

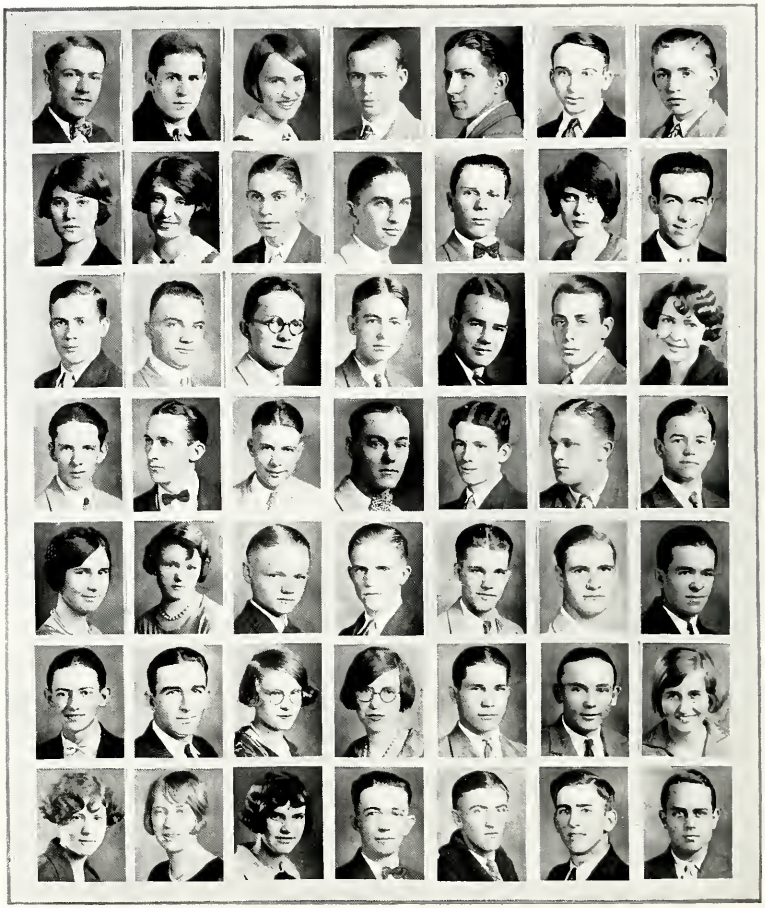

We ask the help of those more learned than we not for the selfish purpose of our advancement, but rather that through our accomplishments may the glory of our college redound throughout all lands.

Mr. Rogers Sherwood,
Birmingham Southern College,
Birmingham, Alabama.

Dear Mr. Sherwood:

It is always hard to judge beauty merely from photographs. Personality is an even greater aid toward feminine charm than special physical endowment. And, ofcourse, personality is absent in still photographs.

It is with pleasure, however, that I name Mabel Nesbitt first of the six girls. The other five girls are: Florence Green, Louise Averyt, Elva Roberts, Mary Frances Sowell, Ruth Tucker, in that order.

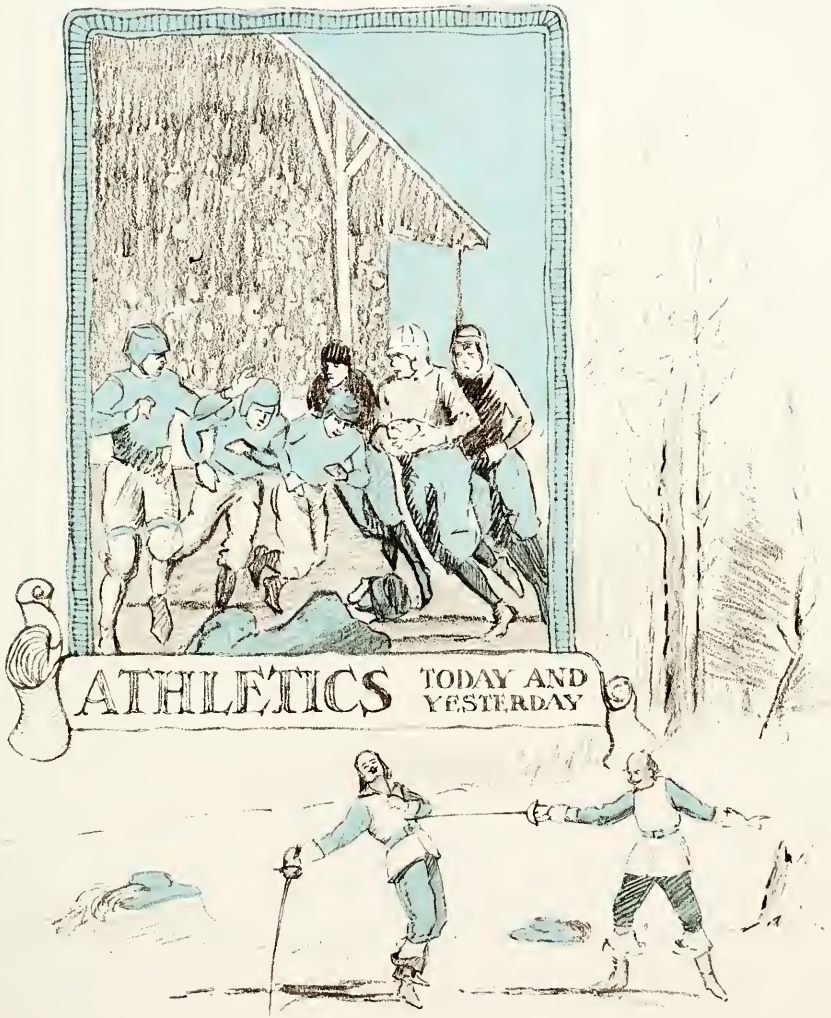

Miss Nesbitt has in good measure beauty of the finely intelligent sort. The other five members of this sextette are all different in their beauty but each one of them had some outstanding characteristic which lead to their choice.

As a former resident of the South myself it has been a special pleasure to me to judge this contest for Birmingham Southern College.

With kindest regards,

Yours truly,

Cecil B. deMille

Stars

God stabbed the black sky with a white light.
And called it—star.

But we have seen them—
Making end runs—smashing tackles—kicking goals—
Fielding—batting—dribbling—jumping hurdles—
Leering—faltering—falling-in—peaked, petered and pale—
Rounding the last long stretch on the murderous shank of a mile race.
Yes, they have sweated and sworn; tasted the chalice of victory—
And swallowed with a wincing gulp the hellish dregs of defeat.

But as we see them here all powdered and slicked up and shaded;
Blended under gray half-lights, watching an ass take a picture—
Yes, as we see them now we hardly can think of their prowess—
—So much have they changed—grown docile and gentle and silent—
Yet these men are our stars.

FOOTBALL

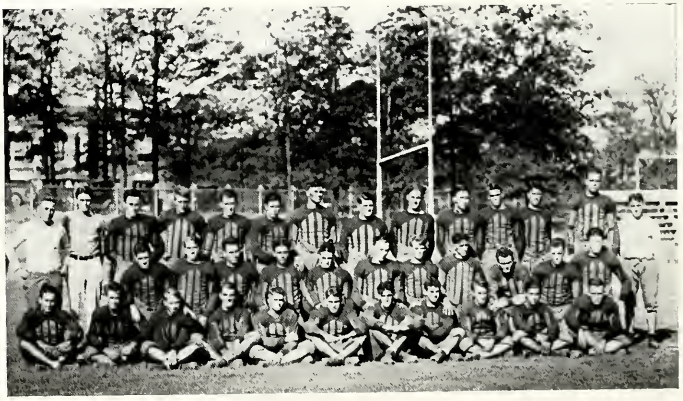

WILLIAMS
Captain, 1925

DREW, Coach

BLACK
Captain, 1926

Varsity Squad

When Coach Drew issued the clarion call for varsity football candidates last fall Southern's hopes were high. After the Thanksgiving game at Lakeland, when he disbanded the team, Southern's hopes were still high, for the college knows that in Drew it has a dependable coach and a loyal supporter.

Resume of the Season

WITH only nine lettermen back in the fold, Coach Drew started out on September 1 to mold a team capable of giving its opponents of the 1925 season a good fight and one that would not be left demolished after another graduation had passed. The record made by the team is silent testimony that he accomplished his first aim. The nineteen lettermen who will return next year seem to point to the success of the campaign ahead.

With only a little more than two weeks' practice, the Hilltoppers engaged the Cadets from Marion Institute in a game that became a slaughter before it was over. The lighter opponents could not withstand the company of charging backs and the larger linemen, with the result that they were defeated 46-0.

The next opponent was Auburn and the Tigers proved too strong for the Panthers in a thrilling game that was played before packed stands. The battle was waged for the most part in the air with the Southerners coming out second best, 25-6. The offense that showed up in the Auburn game also flashed in the conflict with 'Bama's Crimson Tide and resulted in the boys from Sunshine Slopes scoring the only touchdown made against Alabama during the regular season.

S. P. U. was defeated by the fast-moving Panthers at Memphis on October 16, 10-3. Captain "Bullo" Williams produced a seventy-five-yard dash that accounted for the only touchdown, while Lex Fulbright pushed over a dropkick from the field, and accounted for the extra point after touchdown as well. The team continued its great offensive when it met the Choctaws from Mississippi College in the Bowl, but its defense faltered at crucial moments and the invaders took advantage of a passing attack and the breaks of the game to tie the score, 25-25.

The come-back next week was complete when the Loyola Wolves, who had nosed out the Indians by one point, were routed in their own stadium at New Orleans, the score being 38-0. "Curly" Black was back in harness and seemed to have his old "stuff." He led the attack the following Saturday that downed the Jacksonville State Normal Teachers on a sloppy gridiron, 33-0.

The next week the Panthers won their second S. I. A. A. victory from Chattanooga at Gadsden. "Yank" Miller slipped around left end for the only tally of the contest and put Birmingham-Southern in the running for Association honors. Captain "Bullo" continued his spectacular playing in this game. It was, however, in the game at Jackson, Miss., the following week that his presence was felt most. After putting his team ahead by three touchdowns at the end of the first half, he retired and allowed the second team to play during the second period. Black again played in stellar fashion, ably seconded by members of the second string outfit. The final score of 19-6 was looked upon as a big upset in dope, but it was only because the Panthers reached their heights that afternoon.

Returning from the Delta State, the Hilltoppers put in one of their hardest week's practice, but the defeat of Millsaps had ruled them as favorites over Howard and again the dope ran true to form. That is to say, it was reversed. Howard's aerial attack was too much for the Drewmen, and, though they played one of their best games, and though Captain Williams reached the peak of his career, the Bulldogs won, 20-16. It was the closest and most exciting game staged in the Steel City during the year.

The Thanksgiving Day game with Southern College, Lakeland, Fla., came after two days of riding on the part of the Birmingham boys, and the lighter Floridians almost took their measure. "Yank" Miller pulled the game from the fire with a drop-kick in the last two minutes, the final score being 9-6. This closed the season for the Panthers with a record of seven games won, three lost and one tied. They piled up 215 points to 135 by their opponents, being able to score on every team that they played.

Panther leaders! And here's three men that have given their all to the team, and have in turn received due recognition for service rendered.

Captain Loren Williams
Halfback

Captain "Bullo" ended his career of four years by starring in practically every game in which he took part this season. His long runs were his specialties throughout the season, and he caused trouble for every team against whom he played. He led the team in scoring by registering nine touchdowns.

Alternate-Captain Turner Scott
Tackle

"Pealus" wound up a long and useful period in which he came to be one of the best tackles ever produced on the Hill. He could always be depended on to stop most of the plays on his side, and it was through his "hole" that many gains were made by Panther backs.

Captain-Elect Lorrain Black
Halfback

Beginning as a freshman, "Curley" has been a star since his first varsity game. Last year, under Coach Drew, he became known as one of the best backs in the South. This year he was hampered by injuries, but his mates believed that he would come around and make next season his greatest. He is the fifth backfield man to be captain of the Panthers in the last six years.

"Curly" Black, Captain-Elect

"And the Whole Town Turned Out."

Frank Allen

End

The outstanding point in the season for Allen, from the spectator's view, was his 55-yard run in the game with Howard. But his hard work and ability to stand the "gaff" were his strong points.

Robert Bowden

Tackle

This young giant became regular before the season, and should develop into a star to replace Scott in seasons to come

Edward Bostick

Guard

Bostick was a reliable lineman who saw service in most of the games. He is fast in the interference. Ed should do even better work next year.

Bowden Beck

Halfback and End

The only man in the world to score on the Alabama Crimson Tide during the regular season. After an injury to his ankle, "Kinky" was shifted to end.

Gerald Bradford

Halfback

With a wonderful football stride "Barleycorn" has the makings of a great openfield runner. He flashed in several games this year.

Pride of the Class of '28. "Taters" Etheridge Will Not Be Forgotten.

Frank Cairns

Tackle

"Buddie" is the best tackler among the linemen and when he is in the game he usually makes the tackle on kick-offs and punts.

Herbert Childs

Fullback

If the way that "Baby" played this year is any pointer toward the future, he is destined to become a worthy successor to "Red" Farr.

Garland Etheridge

Tackle

A veteran of three seasons, "Taters" has played an unusually good brand of football. He was especially good on the defense.

Lex Fulbright

Quarterback

In his sophomore year Lex developed into a good field general and with another year of experience should be a wonder. He played in more quarters than anyone on the squad.

Walter Gravlee

Fullback

Another graduate of last year's freshman eleven, "Punk" showed the plunging ability of a man many pounds heavier. He also punted well.

Another Picture of the Loyola Fray.

JOHN K. HALL

Guard

After a short time at end and tackle, "Jake" was shifted to guard where he performed so nobly last year. His work the remainder of the season was all that could be asked for.

HUBERT LAVIES

End

Although one of the lightest men on the squad, Lavies soon established himself as one of the hardest fighters, and a good defensive man.

RALPH LAZENBY

Center

Coming up from the Rat team, Ralph got away to a flying start, but the great work of Rawls kept him from the limelight toward the latter part of the season. He will develop into a good lineman.

RICHARD LIPSEY

Halfback

Dick was the fast man of the team and his long runs against Jacksonville and Millsaps provided the fans with thrills

ROY LONG

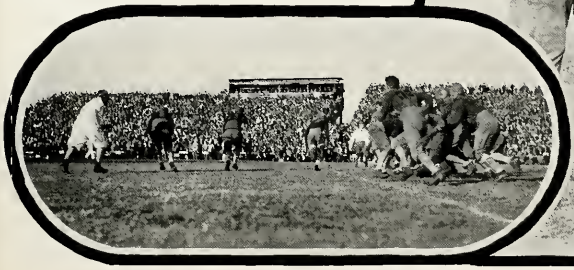

Center

Another man who will have more chance to distinguish himself next year. Roy is big and powerful, and able to take good care of himself in the thick of the fight.

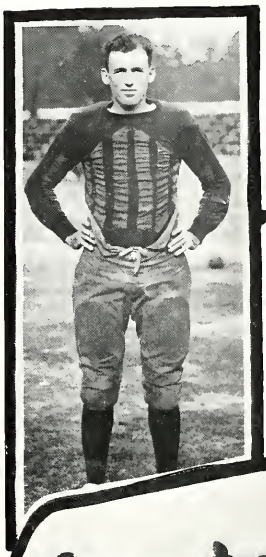

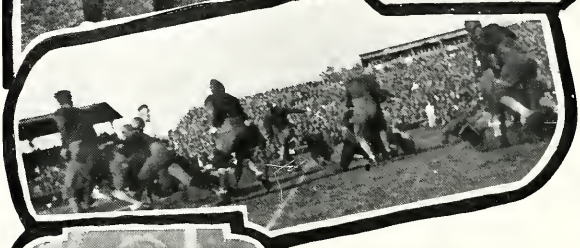

Left: THE HOWARD GAME AT RICKWOOD

Right, middle: "Yank" Miller,
Alternate-Captain for 1926

Joel Lowery

Halfback

The smallest man on the team. "Goat" was nonetheless a powerful running back and gave valuable service during the season. He took part in every game on the schedule.

Robert Mamar

End

Having served three years on the scrubs, Bob got his chance at the varsity this year. He showed up well in the games in which he took part.

Sidney Malloy

End

Sid still has another year of gridiron competition, and should be better than ever next season. He is a veteran of two years.

Charles Miller

Halfback

"Yank" was the best man on the team in a broken field, and pulled at least one long run in each game. He is alternate captain for 1926.

Eddie Pace

End

Perhaps the best pass receiver on the field. Eddie gave a good account of himself throughout the season. He ended his career with four quarters against Howard.

HERE'S FOUR GIANTS OF THE LINE AND A GREAT LITTLE QUARTERBACK FOR YOU. "RIP" AND "STEVIE" WILL BE MISSED.

JAPETH RAWLS

Center

Here is the other real veteran. "Rip" began his very active service back in '22, and has given consistently of his best. His place will be hard to fill in years to come.

JOE RAY

Guard

"Joie" is another of the sophomore guards. He worked well when called upon. He was a long-distance kicker-off, and a good man in the interference.

LEON STEVENSON

Quarterback

"Stevie" was held back all the season by injuries, but served as substitute field general, and picked his plays well. He was a good passer and ball carrier.

HARVEY WILLIAMSON

Guard

Weighing less than almost any guard he played against, "Tony" proved to be a real fighter He has the brightest prospects of anyone on the team.

LEON YIELDING

Guard

When called upon, Leon proved that there is nothing in a name by showing an unresisting front to enemy attacks. He has two more years to play.

COACHES

MICHEL C. HUNTLEY, Baseball Coach

Coach Huntley is new to the Hilltop, this being his first year. He was signed as assistant Freshman coach in basketball and football and varsity coach of baseball. The record that the teams have made under his tutelage speaks well for his ability. He made his letter in three sports at Millsaps College, showing up especially well in baseball. He also took part in athletics at Emory University, leaving there to take his present position.

J. W. PERRY, JR., Freshman Coach

Coach Perry has served two years as Freshman coach on Sunshine Slopes and has made a great success of the job. He played three years at halfback for Emory and Henry, and was captain in his Senior year. He also took part in basketball and baseball and is well qualified to teach the struggling and ambitious young freshmen in these branches of the athletic curriculum. Coach Perry has had several years' experience at his profession, coming to Southern from Troy State Normal.

DOUGLAS WINGO, Assistant Football Coach

Coach Wingo is a scout par excellence, one of the best in the South. He always brought back all the plays put on by the future opponents of the Panther that they showed on the particular afternoon that he visited them. In addition to this he knew the game well enough to put it on with the Freshman acting as the enemy, and to point out the weak and strong points. He has a wonderful personality which he gets across to the men under him and he made a fine assistant to Drew. Coach Wingo has been with us through two campaigns and we hope that he can be retained. He did his playing at Marion Institute and Washington and Lee, performing at the quarterback position. He coached at Marion before coming to the Slopes.

HAROLD DREW, Director of Athletics

Coach Harold D. ("Spud") Drew came to the Hill from Trinity College in Connecticut, and brought with him the famous Rockne style of football science. Since his arrival on the Hill Coach Drew has made the Panther a foe to be feared in football and basketball, and has worked a transformation in Spring track that has placed it almost on a par with the other major sports. "Spud" is able to impart his fiery spirit into a team that gives them an eagerness ability to go up against almost any kind of odds. He is a keen and thorough student of all the branches of athletics, has taken part in most of them for varying numbers of years, and holds a degree of Bachelor of Physical Education from Springfield College.

Freshman Football

The class of 1929 had one of the best defensive Freshman elevens in the South and showed up well in that department throughout the season. However, they did not find themselves offensively until the fag end of the year.

There were several brilliant stars on the team during the year and these should give some of the varsity men trouble next autumn. Every game seemed to produce a new satellite to take his place with the rest. Ineligibility of some of these stars in a few of the games hurt the team.

The first game of the campaign was taken from the Blountsville Aggies by a count of 19-0 in a game in which everyone got a chance. The playing of Captain Murray, O'Brien, Stephens, Brown and Ogle stood out from that of their teammates.

Following this tilt the Alabama Freshmen were held to two touchdowns by the fighting Cubs. Pace rose to great heights in punting against this crew. The Chattanooga first-year men were defeated the next week in a great defensive game by the margin of a safety. Pace again punted well on a gridiron that was covered with water, while Barnes put up a great exhibition at tackle.

Huntsville College was taken into camp, 20-6, in another sloppy battle. This one was staged in the Bowl and the playing of Ogle and Lott was the chief feature.

The game with the Howard College Bullpups was evenly fought, but the Cubs went down to a glorious 6-0 defeat. Three days later they held the Auburn Tiger Cubs to a 12-7 score. The season was closed with a crashing 59-7 victory over the Hamilton Aggies.

Class Football

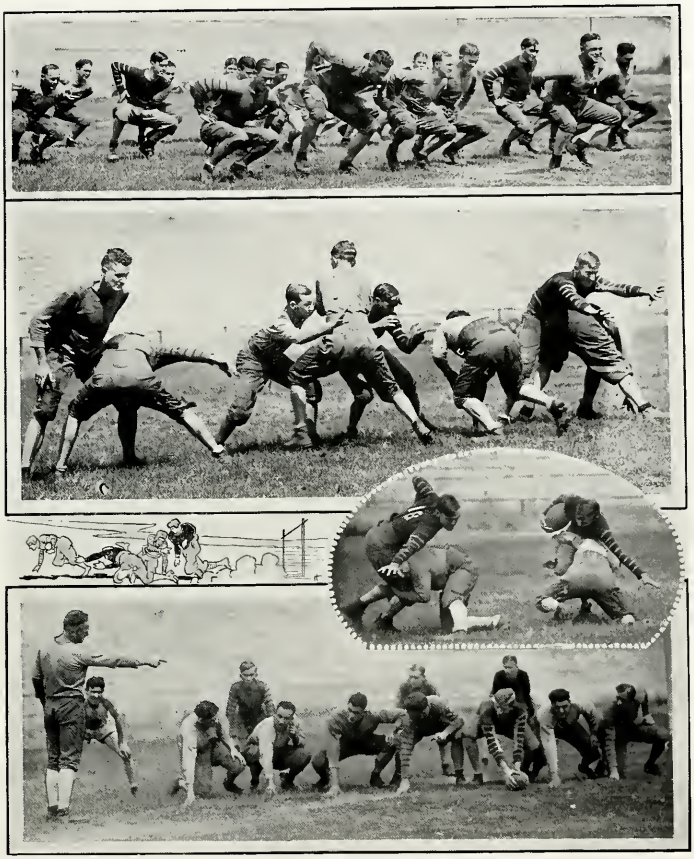

The class football series was the closest and most interesting that has ever been played on the Hill. There were four good teams entered and the winning Sophomores really deserve their title and their silver footballs. They worked hard to earn them.

The first game was between the Juniors and Freshmen, the former eliminating the underclassmen by one touchdown. The Senior-Soph game had the same result, except that by a burst of strength at the last the Seniors were able to count two points on a safety.

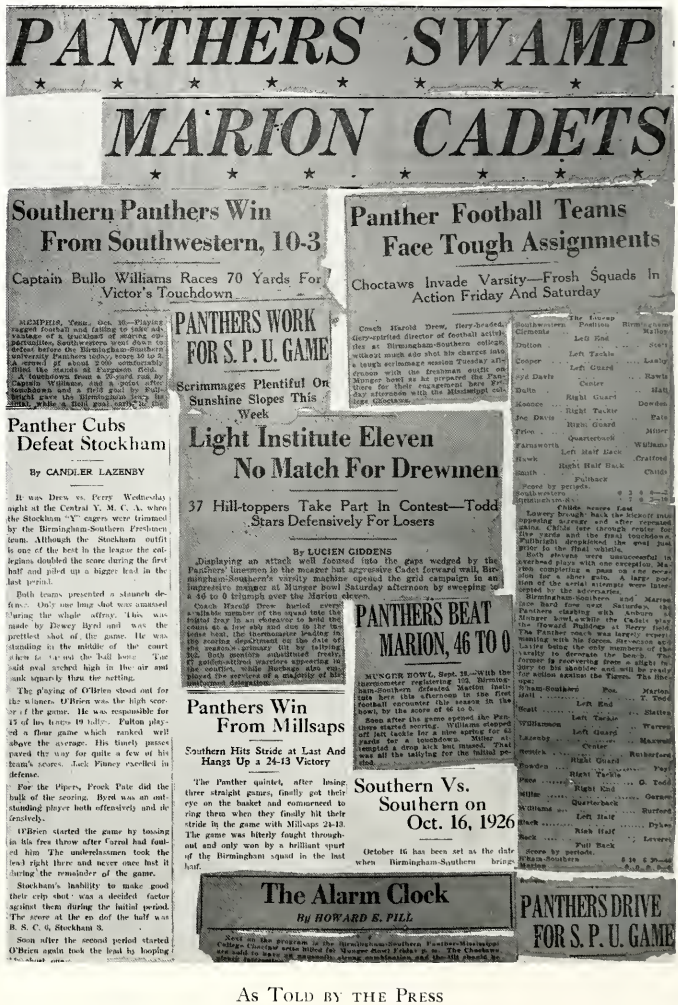

The Sophs defeated the Juniors in an extremely torrid battle for the championship. The line plunging of "Dee" Thomas was too much for the losers. The inevitable six showed up again, the score being 6-0.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 16—Playing ragged football and failing to take advantage of a truckload of scoring opportunities, Southwestern went down to defeat before the Birmingham-Southern University Panthers today, score 10 to 3. Panther Cubs Defeat Stockham

By CANDLER LAZENBY

It was Drew vs. Perry Wednesday night at the Central Y. M. C. A. when the Stockham "Y" cagers were trimmed by the Birmingham-Southern Freshmen team. Although the Stockham outfit is one of the best in the league the collegians doubled the score during the first half and piled up a bigger lead in the last period.

Both teams presented a staunch defense. Only one long shot was mastered during the whole affray. This was made by Dewey Byrd and was the prettiest shot of the game. He was standing in the middle of the court when he turned the ball loose. The cold oval arched high in the air and sank squarely thru the netting.

The playing of O'Brien stood out for the winners. O'Brien was the high scorer of the game. He was responsible for 15 of his teams 19 tallys. Fulton played a fine game which ranked well above the average. His timely passes paved the way for quite a few of his team's scores. Jack Finney excelled in defense.

For the Pipers, Frock Pate did the bulk of the scoring. Byrd was an outstanding player both offensively and defensively.

O'Brien started the game by tossing in his free throw after Cureal had fouled him The underclassmen took the lead right there and never once lost it during the remainder of the game.

Stockham's inability to make good their crip shot was a decided factor against them during the battled period. The score at the en dof the half was B. S. C. 6, Stockham 3.

Choctaws Invade Varsity—Frosh Squads In Action Friday And Saturday

Coach Harold Drew, fiery-headed dictator-spirited director of football activities at Birmingham-Southern college, without much ado shot his charges into a tough scrimmage session Tuesday afternoon with the freshman outfit on Munger bowl as he prepared the Panthers for their engagement here Friday afternoon with the Mississippi college Choctaws.

The Lineup

Birmingham-S.	7	0	3	0—10

Childs scores Last

Lowery brought back the kickoff into opposing territory and after repeated gains, Childs tore through center for five yards and the final touchdown. Pullbright dropkicked the goal just prior to the final whistle.

Both elevens were unsuccessful in overhead plays with one exception. Mason completing a pass on the forward for a short gain. A large portion of the aerial attempts were intercepted by the adversaries.

Birmingham-Southern and Marion face hard row next Saturday, the Panthers clashing with Ashore at Munger bowl, while the Cadets play the Howard Bulldogs at Berry field. The Panther coach was largely representing with his forces. Strategus and Lasley being the only members of the varsity to decorate the bench. The former is recovering from a slight injury to his shoulder and will be ready for action against the Tigers. The lineups:

37 Hill-toppers Take Part In Contest—Todd Stars Defensively For Losers

By LUCIEN GIDDENS

Displaying an attack well focused into the gaps wedged by the Panthers' linesmen in the meager but aggressive Cadet forward wall, Birmingham-Southern's varsity machine opened the grid campaign in an impressive manner at Munger bowl Saturday afternoon by sweeping to a 46 to 0 triumph over the Marion eleven.

Coach Harold Drew hurled every available member of the squad into the initial fray in an endeavor to hold the cohorts at a low ebb and also to lift the lease hold the intermediate leading to the scoring department for the date of the season's primary tilt by tabbing 37. Both members substituted freely, 27 gold-clad-red warriors appearing in the conflict, while Hardage also employed the services of a majority of his husky second squadron.

MUNGER BOWL, Sept. 26.—With the temperature registering 102, Birmingham-Southern defeated Marion Institute here this afternoon in the first football encounter this season in the bowl, by the score of 46 to 0.

Soon after the game opened the Panthers started scoring. Williams stepped off left tackle for a nice spring for 62 yards for a touchdown. Miller attempted the drop kick but missed. That was all the tallying for the initial period.

Review of the Season, 1925-26

(Note: This story was written January 25, 1926.)

The thinly-clad cagesters did not get off to their usual flying start this year and as a consequence they were just rounding into form as the annual went to press. The team showed up well on the defense in most of the games and a good offense was in the making at the above date.

The best games that have been played so far were against the University of Alabama, Mississippi A. & M. and Millsaps. In the last of these the Panthers of the court registered their lone victory of the season thus far. However, the best part of the schedule is just ahead and the boys from Sunshine Slopes are being prepped to do their stuff upon the occasion of the meeting with their ancient rivals, the Bulldogs.

Games with Sewanee, Chattanooga, Auburn and the Birmingham Athletic Club are still on the card in addition to the battles with Howard. The five has been changing but it seems that a combination just formed, consisting of Beck and Stevenson, forwards; Kimbrough, center; McDorman and Hall, guards, is the best one that has taken the floor yet. With practice they should round into an excellent team.

Varsity Basketball Team

(Note: This article written January 26, 1926.)

FRANK ALLEN, Guard—Frank has stepped up from last year's Frosh team, of which he was captain and is giving a good account of himself.

BOWDEN BECK, Forward—The ace of the Freshmen was "Kinky" and he is fast becoming one of the dependables of the varsity.

JOHN HALL, Guard—"Jake" got some mighty good basketball out of his system last year and is counted on strong at the back guard berth.

JAMES HARRIS, Center—Harris is another one of Coach Perry's graduates and has been substituting at center regularly.

BILL JENKINS, Forward—A letterman of last year, Bill has been seeing much service this season and has been showing a fine brand of basketball.

S. T. KIMBROUGH—The man with the eye for the basket, "Stee" registered thirty-one points in two consecutive games and has been the main offense that the Panthers have offered.

CLARENCE MCDORMAN, Guard—"Mack" has performed for two years at the sentinel post and is a real veteran on the team.

CHARLES MILLER, Forward—"Yank" is a nifty little forward who plays a neat floor game and shoots with the best. He was going good at mid-season.

EDDIE PACE, Guard—With a year of service behind him, Eddie is beginning to show promise of developing into a great basketball player. He has worked in good style.

ERNEST PRICE, Guard—A star in last year's S. I. A. A. tournament, Ernest is making it hard for opponents this year with his flashy playing.

HUGH STEVENSON, Forward—While he is one of the smallest men on the squad, "Stevie" is a good shot and is tending to one of the sharp-shooting posts regularly.

HERBERT WEAVER, Forward—Considered as just a scrub last year, "Bo" has won a place on the regular squad this year. He was playing regularly until a wrenched ankle forced him to the bench.

Co-ed Basketball

(Note: This article written January 26, 1926.)

With six veterans back out of a possible seven, and with an abundance of Freshman material, the Co-eds have built up a machine that has proved to be one of the most powerful in the state.

They opened the campaign by dropping a hotly contested scrap to the lassies from Woman's College by a very narrow margin. The Pantherettes were coming strong when the final whistle stopped the contest.

With their defeat still strong in their memory the girls next encountered the Athens College misses and this time they made victory certain at the start by piling up a huge score in the first quarter. Trudie Whisenant led the way. This time she ran up the almost unbelievable score of 57 points. The final tally was 89 to 22.

Again the Co-eds started out by gaining an early lead when they tackled the Alabama College girls. They were leading at the end of the first half, only to see their margin whittled down by the spectacular shooting of their opponents, and to come in the losers by 29 to 23.

However, this put them in good mood for the slaughter that they were to make of the Howard College Co-eds two nights later. In this game they went along rather erratically until well into the second quarter, when they broke out with several field goals in succession. In the second half they came back to complete the annihilation and won by the overwhelming score of 38 to 2.

There remain several games still to be played, including return engagements with both of the teams that have defeated the Pantherettes and revenge on them is the one thought in the minds of the Southern lassies.

Co-ed Basketball Team

(Note: This writeup sent to printer January 27, 1926.)

Evelyn Armstrong, Forward—Coming on the Hill a high school star, Evelyn lived up to her reputation by forcing her way through the abundant material and gaining a regular berth. She took Lucile Cannon's place when the latter was injured and filled right into the niche.

Lucile Cannon, Forward—Lucile was going along nicely in her third college season when she wrenched her ankle and had to take a place on the bench. It is hoped that she will be able to get back in the game before the campaign is over.

Lela Clark, Guard—Lela made her letter in 1925, filling in at guard and doing her work nicely. She is seeing more service this year but is still handicapped in seeking the position occupied by the captain.

Harriet Cottingham, Guard—Although only a midget in size, Harriet makes up for it in fight and ability to play the ball. She stepped into ex-Captain Manar's shoes and is making them fit.

Helen Crain, Center—Helen has shone through two seasons and this year is outshining all previous attempts. In the game with the Howard girls she was high scorer with fourteen points.

Margaret Hanes, Guard—Lucile is another guard who has been giving her best to the team for two years. She has gotten in several games this year and is performing nobly.

Gladys Miller, Guard—Gladys comes from an athletic family and it was no surprise to the school to find her on the varsity squad in her Freshman year. If she follows the example set by her brother she is destined to become a star.

Florence Quigley, Forward—Another high school star who is still in the ascendancy. Florence made her letter at guard last year but due to her unfailing eye for the netting she has been used at forward this year. She shoots baskets with abandon.

Louise Rowland, Center—Lonise is following in the footsteps of Cannon and Quigley, being also a graduate of Ensley. She is one of the Freshman satellites who is playing her first season on the varsity.

Trudie Whisenant, Forward—Trudie has been the sharpshooter of the team for two seasons. She has piled up innumerable points since her first game and only once or twice has she been held below ten points in a game.

Captain Lucile Williams, Guard—Last, but far from least, the second Williams to be captain of one of Birmingham-Southern's teams for the present year, Lucile is playing her fourth and final year at guard. She has given long and faithful service at the sentinel post, and it is taking nothing from her seasons past to say that this is her best year.

Freshman Basketball

The basketball team of the class of 1929, under the leadership of Coach Perry, was by far the most remarkable Freshman team in the history of the college. Champions of both the City League and the Boys' Club League, at the close of the January playing period, the Frosh quintet was truly the record-making athletic combine from the Hilltop for the year 1925-26.

More individual stars were on the team than ever before, and they were welded into the best and smoothest running machine that could be produced. Eight wins and no defeats had been registered by the Freshmen at the end of the first period, such teams as Howard Rats, Fairfield "Y," Stockham "Y," Birmingham "Y," Phillips and Sneads Seminary being put in the defeated column. The Howard outfit was beaten twice and scores of the other games gave the Freshmen such safe margins, in most cases, that they were never in danger, generally leading the opposition through the entire contest.

Freshman Basketball Team

Shelton Akers, Guard—"Cheese" was one of the most consistent players on the team, and saw service in several of the games. He was especially good at keeping the ball in home territory.

Harold Beagle, Guard—Here's a Connecticut Hall man for you, and he's one that gave his all to the team during the entire season.

Daniel Clement, Forward—This Freshman believes in teamwork above all else, and he carried out that doctrine in his season's play.

Brand Currie, Guard—Currie was a regular guard on the Frosh quintet, and was a fighter all the way. He was one of the shining lights of the team.

Clinton Elliott, Guard—After having played great ball on the gridiron all season, as a member of the Rat eleven, Elliott kept up his athletic record by becoming a vital cog in the basketball machine.

Jack Finney, Guard—A volume could be written about Finney's play and still all might not be said. He is a wonderful defensive man and made first team without question.

Marbury Fulton, Forward—At passing the ball Fulton was expert, and in every other department of the game he came up to standard. He was regular all season.

William Kirby, Forward—Another good passer, and a player who was always in the heat of the fight.

Ernest Neipp, Center—Neipp was right there from the time of the toss-up until the final whistle. He was a heavy scorer.

John O'Brien, Forward—"Father" was captain of the team, and the best little leader ever to pilot a Freshman quintet. He was truly a sensational player all season, and those words mean more than they say.

Hugh Ogle, Center—"Long Boy" never had to stretch himself at the toss-up and was expert at getting the ball from the backboard.

Lewis Sternschuss, Forward—For floor work, a better man can't be found than this boy Sternschuss. He's all right, though, at any post on the team.

Ralph Trammell, Guard—Trammell is last but not least by a large margin. His play on the defensive received favorable comment all season.

The 1925 Season

While the 1925 diamond squad was not the best in the South, it was the best in the Magic City, winning three out of four games from its across-town rivals, the Howard Bulldogs. This was a very closely played series in which only one game had a margin of more than one score. "Babe" Graham proved to be the hero by winning the last game in a pitchers' duel, with the tally-sheet reading 2 to 1. This was the best game put up by the Panthers during the season.

Other high lights of the campaign were the narrow escape of Washington and Lee from the Panther claws, the four-game series taken from Tusculum College, and the defeat of Millsaps. The University of Alabama was held to a 3 to 1 victory in the first game of the season and the Hillmen also made a good showing against the Birmingham Barons.

The trip into Tennessee and Virginia was declared to be the best ever taken by a Birmingham-Southern team. The tour extended over a week's time and six games were played. Tusculum College furnished the opposition for two days; then Washington and Lee, V. M. I., Roanoke College and Emory and Henry were played. The Panthers won the first two games but dropped the rest, two by very thin margins.

Taken all in all, the season was about even, the ledger holding only three more losses than victories. Only five of the fourteen lettermen will be lost to the team by graduation or for other reasons. This leaves a fine nucleus for the 1926 team.

Baseball Team

EDDIE PACE, Pitcher

Playing in the outfield one day and taking his turn in the box the next was a small matter to Eddie. He did both equally well.

CLARENCE O'BRIEN, Catcher

"Mickey," the fightin' Irishman, was the regular catcher and the team's leading hitter. He broke up several games with timely wallops.

PRICE HOWELL, Right Field

Another swatting outfielder was Price. He kept his average up with the best and used his speed in getting down to first on infield taps.

CARLTON PERDUE, Shortstop

"Hub" batted in hard luck all season. He hit more drives into the hands of fielders than most players send to vacant spots. At that he was well up in the percentages.

LEON STEVENSON, Second Base

"Stevie" worked at the other side of the keystone, and was the sacrificial artist in the batting order.

MANAGER T. B. PEARSON, Center Field

"Mange" was a great little defensive outfielder, and arranged three nifty trips for the team. His re-election was met with cheers by his teammates.

WILLIAM JENKINS, Pitcher

Bill proved to be a fine relief worker on the mound, and especially will his pitching against the Auburn Tigers be remembered by the fans who saw that game.

Baseball Team

"Curley" was a slugger and at the same time a good lead-off man. His batting average was close around the .300 mark all during the season. He was also a fine outfielder, being able to range far and wide.

PAUL NORTON, Coach

Taking up the team after the season started, "Mike" put the fight and baseball lore into the hearts and heads of his proteges. Much of the credit for the success of the season goes to him.

JERRY BRYAN, Infield

A happy combination of substitute infielder and sports writer, Jerry made the trips and supplied the fun for the love-sick boys.

BYRON DELOACH, Catcher

"Frog" was understudy to O'Brien, the regular backstop, his willingness to work winning him a place on the squad.

HUBERT CALDWELL, First Base

As soon as "Skeebe" doffs his basketball unie he dons his baseball suit and is ready for more fun. He was captain of the team and a dangerous batter.

BEN ENGLEBERT, Third Base

Ex-Captain Ben was shifted back to his natural position at the hot corner, and his playing during the season was consistently good.

BERTRAM BRYANT, Catcher

A consistent player—this Bryant boy. He was second to O'Brien in the catching department, and was used in several games, where his performance came up to varsity style in every respect.

Pictures of Earl Graham, pitcher; Robert Manar, pitcher, and Ernest Shelton, outfielder, unobtainable.

Freshman Baseball

THE Freshman diamond aggregation of 1925 was able to take most of its opponents into camp, some by rather healthy scores. The Howard Rats were disposed of in the only game between the two rivals. The Ensley High boys were able to halve a two-game series, as were the lads from Phillips High School

The good work of several Freshmen stood out during the season and they should make strong bids for the varsity in 1926. Among these were "Pinkie" McTrottis, pitcher; McLaughlin, second base; Boyd, shortstop; Beck, third base, and Ray, outfield. These boys combined hitting ability with fielding strength and should prove themselves well-rounded players when the time comes for their varsity try-outs.

Coach Perry deserves credit for molding this machine that proved that team-work counts more than individual prowess.

Spring Track, 1925

Under the tutelage of Coach Harold Drew, Birmingham-Southern's varsity track team experienced probably its most successful season last spring. The fiery Panther mentor revived interest in the sport and placed it in front as one of the Hilitop's major branches of athletics.

Practically every track man in college answered the clarion call for practice March 3. After several weeks of drill in every phase of track, the team began its intercollegiate meets, and brought home satisfying results from every contest. After losing the openers with Auburn and Alabama, the Panther squad romped over Chattanooga's Moccasins, 78-37. Interclass meets, especially with the Freshman barriers, furnished plenty of work for the varsity between those meets.

It was, however, in the big S. I. A. A. meet on Munger Bowl, May 9, that the Panthers showed their true strength. Winning second place by running up a total of 39 points was a noteworthy achievement, especially with such teams as Furman, Center, Mississippi College, Millsaps and Mercer competing.

The varsity squad: Dick Beatty, Jake Hall, Herbert Weaver, Sid Malloy. Howard Ellington. J. B. Hill, Frank Morris, Richard Lipsey, Floyd Wilson, Garland Etheridge, O. A. Farr, Frank Cairns, Turner Scott, Cecil Hackney and Loren Williams.

Kneeling, Left to Right: Bowden Beck, Joe Lowery, Powell Thompson, William McCarty.

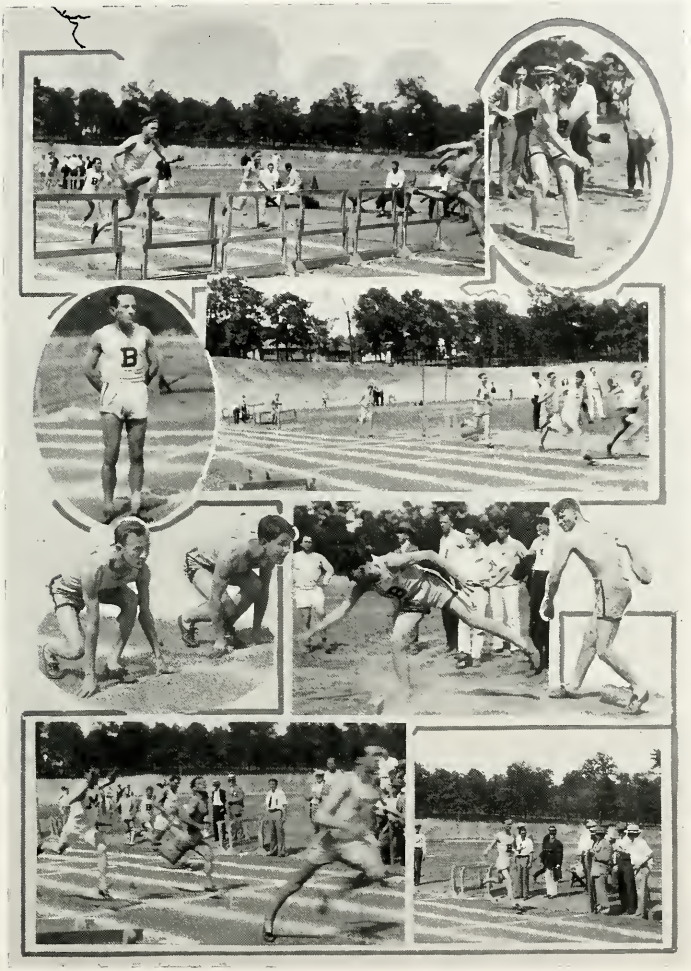

Freshman Track

The Freshman track team last spring was a winner from the start, it being directly under Coach Drew's coaching, and well supplied with material of the sort that makes for victories.

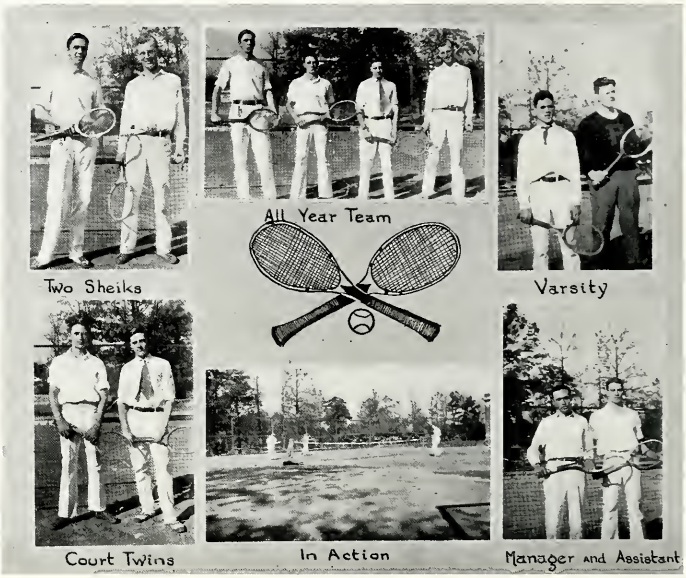

In three high school meets, Bessemer, Woodlawn and Simpson, the Freshmen emerged easy victors. It was in these contests that they paved the way for recognition from the entire school, and made ready for keener competition, which was to come from the varsity a little later in the season.

In the interclass and varsity meets, the Freshman team flashed brilliant and won several first places. That it will furnish the nucleus for the varsity track team this year is a certainty, since from its ranks emerged a specialty in every branch of track.

The Freshman squad: John Bradford, Bob Sudderth, Harold DeLoach, Ed Bostick, Bob Bowden, Joe Ray, Herbert Childs, Otis White, Powell Thompson and Joe Lowery.

The S. I. A. A. Track Meet on Munger Bowl

Tennis

It's a whole school's game—tennis. In all except three months in the year, the three courts are in active use, with more students participating in the game, at one time or another, than take part in any other form of athletic endeavor on the Hill.

Manager Harry Bailey and his able assistants have seen to it that the courts are kept in the best of condition, and were instrumental in promoting several tournaments during the fall season. Last year, a number of intercollegiate matches were brought about, and although new courts may be necessary in the near future, due to the imposing site of the old ones in the middle of the college quadrangle, yet it is a certainty that tennis is on the Slopes to stay.

PANTHERLAND

On Parade

Everybody's Friend

Seniors on the march! And what a significant procession this is each year, with over a hundred students on their farewell "tramp" to the chapel.

But commencement on the Hilltop does not mean a lull in activities at the college, for ere the graduating exercises are over the North Alabama Conference Epworth Leaguers are assembling on the Slopes for their annual convention.

Miss Lee—the students' friend. Her smile is one of the college's traditions.

An' there's Cullman. Mr. Dowling is a candidate for the M.A. this year.

The realization of a student body's dream was this ground-breaking of the Student Activities Building last Spring.

It was left to Mr. F. M. Jackson to start the fire-works. He slipped out to the site of the ground-breaking and, in the presence of the photographer and one or two others, lifted the first dirt.

Students, trustees and faculty were all represented in the ceremonies of the occasion. The two-student groups shown were the leaders in the campaign for funds and had as their captains, Jerry Bryan and Verman Kimbrough, respectively.

Dr. Stuart Says a Shovel-ful

Our President Takes to the Stump.

Mr. Elliott Flashes Eloquent.

A big day at Southern!

The Auburn game, for the second successive year, brought out the largest crowd of the season to Munger Bowl. It was at that time that the new Student Activities Building corner-stone was laid. Speakers included President Snavely, Mr. F. M. Jackson, Mrs. Stockham, Mr. Edgar M. Elliott and Paul Cooke, representing the student body.

Southern's band "struts"!

With a solid student body occupying the frame bleachers, and the "best college band in Dixie" parading the playing field between halves, spectators at this contested gridiron struggle were given an idea of "Panther pep." It was a gala event.

Hats Off to the Sponsors

Class Football and Frosh Pole-Rushers.

Inter-class athletic contests have come to be recognized at Birmingham-Southern as a means of developing a keener spirit of sportsmanship, and the college fosters many events of this nature.

The annual flag rush between male members of the Sophomore and Freshman classes is the season-opener for this type of athletic endeavor, and was won last Fall by the "Rats," who, however, had no easy time in overcoming the small group of Sophs.

Class football is participated in by the four classes, and comes after the close of the varsity season.

Up a Tree!

A red-letter day of the football season! The game with Howard each year comes as a grand climax to the Panthers' gridiron activities, and it is truly the "Marne of Football" for Magic City fandom.

Each year, on the day before the big game, it is the custom to spring a "surprise" on the student body at chapel, and the banner pictured on this page was the instrument of "pep-raising" on the last occasion. It was designed and presented by Prof. Robert S. Whitehouse, one of the most popular members of the college faculty.

TOUCHDOWN!

At the Loyola Game.

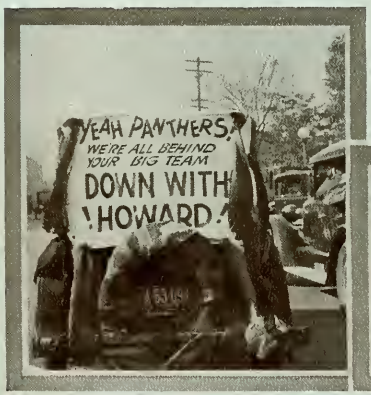

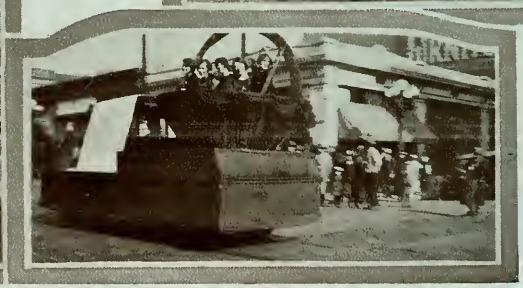

Birmingham-Southern and Loyola are colleges separated by sectional boundaries more than anything else, and it was only last Fall that the two came to know each other. And what an acquaintance was made at that time! The Panther football team, a handful of rooters, and the band, proved such effective instruments of introduction till old New Orleans is still talking about "the day Southern played."

The library steps. What a mecca for campus luminaries. And there's a parade picture or two. Brings back fleeting memories of that November day when the Panthers proved their "glory in defeat."

A Basket o' Peaches.

"Baby" Childs Said He Had to Have His Girls

Campus life!

And it's the best, after all, according to the verdict of the majority of Hilltop students. And the "parking" problem is no problem at all, eh, what?

A pair of "Oxford bags" for you. "Skipper" Morgan became famous overnight as a "flapper" of no mean repute, and set even his closest rivals in the shade with his 31-inch "specials."

There goes Sally Roe and her gang. But look at Sir Sid, would you. An' yet they voted him the biggest woman hater in school. How some folks can be deceived.

A Quintet of Ramblers who Take Everything in Their Wake.

Tate and Company, for your "once-over," folks. They are as traditional to the college as "Rat" Johnson is to the dollar.

A near-dozen slingers of dining hall delicacies out for your apgentle readers. And they didn't fade out of the picture with the old dinner bell, either, when the cafeteria came into being, but rather hoisted themselves to places of greater dignity.

Rudolph Scott wants to say a word, but lookout, Joe Travis intervenes with one of his famous whistling solos.

The Library steps again. You just can't get around 'em.

Knights of the Dining-Hall.

Charlie Fowler Yelled to a 38 to 0 Victory at Loyola.

Some more memories of that New Orleans trip.

And as a few echoes from the track season to liven things up a bit. The Cooper Road Race Winners: Wilson, Perry and Stephenson, finished in the order named. These men formed the nucleus of the Fall track team and were participants in the B. A. C. meet, as well as a cross-country run in Atlanta, in which the Birmingham-Southern harriers came out second.

Two luminaries on the Freshman track team last Spring. Bob Bowden looms as one of the school's "futures" in the field events, while "Barleycorn" Bradford has already made for himself a name, by breaking the college's record for the mile run.

Exercise for the Ladies.

Top: T. C. I. Exhibit Case in the Library.

The Y. W.'s "kid" party proved to be one of the most unique social affairs of the early school year. The "boys" on this occasion made favorable comparison with the "girls" of glee club fame.

Intelligence tests! And what an eye-opener they proved to some of the "know-it-all" Freshmen. Dr. Hoke certainly showed the Frosh up in "psychological" fashion.

Off to Gadsden for the 'Nooga game. The team hurried off ahead of the "special" by means of busses, and felt good enough over the trip to trim the Moccasins in nice style.

The Librarians Take a Minute Off.

Wonder if Lucile Williams thinks she can get away with it. Elva was right there at the Howard game.

Miscellaneous—who said miscellaneous? This is a perfectly good page, but that must be the trouble. —it represents so much. From chapel to the Howard game is quite a jump, and the editor of "Pantherland" frankly admitted his inability to link the two topics together in appropriate style.

And there's the library steps—page Fisk (yes—it's time to retire). But sympathizing readers, feel with the writer for a few seconds, for truly there's that glee club page that is yet to be written, and those song-birds demand every adjective that this scribbler can command.

As Chapel Used to Be

A "Ski" Jump or So Before the Concert

There they go! King Olaf and his glee songsters—on a jaunt through the Canadian Rockies, on to the Pacific Coast, and back for a record tour through the great Southwest.

An' it was some trip, the boys say. A concert by night, and sight-seeing by day. Much of a repetition of the '24 summer tour, only on a bigger scale.

It was a second education for the glee club members, who took advantage of their every opportunity for seeing the wonders of the West. That travel broadens was vouched for by all who made the trip.

At the Terminal Before Leaving

Some Canada Stuff at the Left

The Flapper Is on the Road to Success, She Says. Exclusive Writer for the G. & B.

Behold—winners in La Revue's election "who's who" (and maybe why) on Birmingham-Southern's campus.

The votes for the most popular man showed that Charlie Fowler won this coveted honor. He also was voted the handsomest man in college. Virginia Sandusky is the school's typical flapper, and Bob Manar was adjudged the laziest man. For intelligence and a good sport, we refer you to T. O. Cox and "Pealus" Scott, respectively.

Evelyn Price was voted the most popular co-ed, while Sid Malloy is still the woman hater. The election showed up Jake Hall in his usual friendly manner.

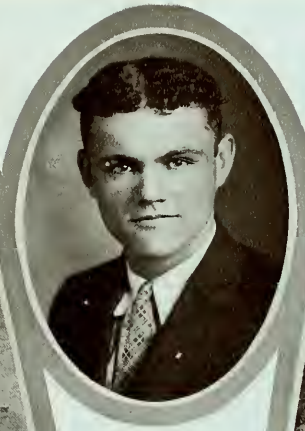

"Pealus" at His Best

Jake Was Awful Modest, But He Was Forced into It—We Mean This Pose.

Bob Said They Weren't So Very Large, at That.

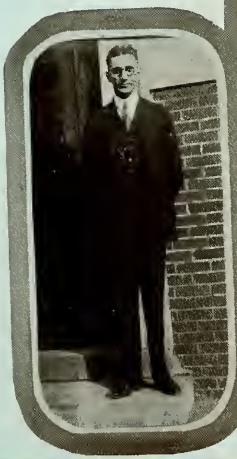

Some more Revue election "dope."

"Bullo" Williams was slightly selfish in this contest for campus fame, being elected the college's most popular athlete, best all-round man, and fashion plate.

Irving Fullington retained his old hold on the title of Southern's shrewdest politician, and Helen Crain is still the school's best all-round co-ed.

Rudolph Scott remains the college booster, and Lex Fullbright the drugstore cowboy. Dr. Whiting received the high vote for most popular professor. Jack Finney is undoubtedly the freshest "Rat" on the Hill, the election showed. And Bob Bowden still has big feet.

Fullbright Still Says It Was a Frame-up.

PREAMBLE

Following up the custom of Sears-Roebuck, New York Bargain House and many other eminent business establishments dealing with the general public, Burnt Ham Soup College is presenting herewith a report drawn up by the Stewed and Sent It, executive body, for the perusal of customers and prospective victims. The report is drawn up every twenty-five years, this one marking the close of the first quarter of the Twentieth century.

QUARTER-CENTENNIAL REPORT ON COLLEGE'S PROGRESS

1901

Classes were disbanded on New Year's Day. A ballot cast by faculty members overwhelmingly favored a holiday. A meeting of the instructors brought out the fact that many were on the Anti-Saloon League drive to rid the city of the liquor pestilence, and a lengthy session held in one of Birmingham's leading saloons left a large percentage of them indisposed. The new year was ushered in gloriously. "Hank" Lisenhucker enrolled for classes at mid-term wearing the latest thing in high toppers. The eleven won a great victory over Princeton and easily defeated Harvard, while Marion won a close game from the B. S. H. C. boys. The reserve strength was badly crippled when he sprained his ankle alighting from his horse, "Sealem."

1902

Enrollment has increased apace. Two new fellows enrolled at opening, while one more entered at mid-year. Coach Weesqushum was elated at the number of men reporting for the football team, having two extra players, one of the regular men, however, being crippled with both legs broken. A new set of nose guards was ordered for the team. The team this year journeyed to Hongkong and played the Honkkonk Geese. Seasickness caused considerable indisposure among the players.

1903

The president bought a new horse and had his buggy repainted.

1904

The Christmas holidays were prolonged when someone stole the bell from the belfry and there was nothing to ring to start classes.

1905

One of the students was graduated this year and will take up postgraduate work at Bryce Institute, Tuscaloosa, Ala. Reports by the post-rider have it that he is progressing nicely with his work.

1906

Crops were good this year in this district and many of the students remained on the campus during the summer hoeing cotton and many of them made their expenses for the year at pulling fodder. The highway at the foot of the hill was bad and many of the students left their wagons and mules at home and walked to school.

1907

Another student enrolled.

1908

Regret to report a serious loss in enrollment. Cy Parsintuck mistook the kerosine jug for his corn container and drank too deeply and not wisely.

1909

A great change has come over the campus. The new president, having a daughter of colege age, started her to school and two other young ladies immediately joined. This addition drew attention in all sections of the state. Three students came from the prep school over on the other side of town, while at least four others have avowed their intention of coming to B. H. S. C. Enrollment jumped from 15 to 21, including the three co-eds. A faculty ruling has forced the co-eds to sit on the back seat. Their hoops flying up in the faces of faculty and students obstruct the view.

1910

With the number of female students increased to five the advent of celluloid collars has been noted. The Bear Grease Club was formed to stimulate social functions on the campus. This club is advocating revolutionary changes in attire in which high-top boots, overalls and old hickory shirts would be changed to white shirts, stiff collars and "straight-legs." The smell of goose oil and other grease on hirsute adornment has a peculiar rancid odor.

1911

A waiting list for the Bear Grease Club has been formed and rumors of the founding of another rival club are abroad. Social functions have become quite promiscuous. Several members of the Bear Grease Club made calls on young lady students during the year and reported back favorably to their fellow members, with the result that several of the co-eds have become quite popular.

1912

This year was a land-mark in the history of the institution. One of the new gas buggies, which the professors told the students about, came on the campus, bringing a new young lady student. A new club was immediately formed, "Slickumback and Shinem" being its handle.

1913

Old grads would hardly know their Alma Mater.

1914

The enrollment this year numbered 30, with 10 of the students being young ladies. Much competition is being put up by the two social clubs for the favors of the co-eds. A riot was staged when a member of the Bear Grease Club threw away his bottle of grease and changed over to the Slickumback and Shinem Club by using candle-stick tallow and bee's wax on his hair. The Bear Grease Club charged that he was intimidated.

1915

A faculty announcement that examinations would be discontinued and that class attendance would be optional drew immediate response. The enrollment this year was 2500.

1916

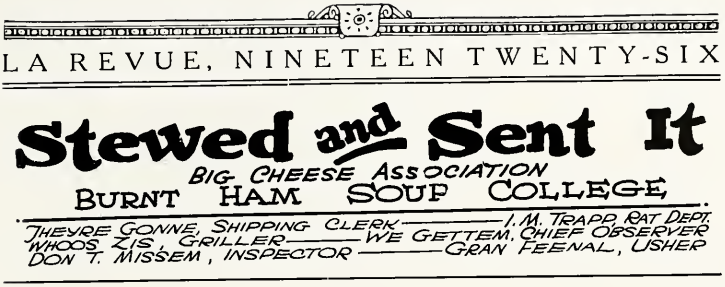

Another increase in enrollment brought the total up to 3000. The football team had a great season, playing a hard schedule. The boys encountered Jacksonville State Normal, Albertville Aggies, Marion, and Pratt City.

1917

A dancing pavillion was built on the campus and enrollment went up to 4000. A swimming pool, race track, and several bootleg joints are under construction. The Bear Grease Club and Slickumback and Shinem Club have now branched out into exceedingly active social fraternities, of which there are 20 now, and it is due to their valuable aid that the college can boast of so many modern improvements.

1918

The advent of the "shimmy" has all but wrecked the school. A shimmy dance in the college pavillion crashed in the floor and it is now in the hands of the salvagers. Enrollment dropped off 500 this year.

1919

The faculty has decided to resume the custom of holding regular tests and a mid-term examination. Enrollment is now down to 250.

1920

The race track is gone—enrollment 237.

1921

Class attendance was reinstalled as a compulsory matter this year and only three "cuts" are allowed for each class. September found the registrar not so busy as in past years, 38 being enrolled.

1922

A dean was hired to check up on absences—14 students immediately left school.

1923

Due to the decreased enrollment the spacious and roomy gymnasium was torn down. The honor system was inaugurated by the Stewed and Sent It, seven students were shipped for handing in papers already written before class time.

1924

Fees and room rent were increased. Enrollment dropped off 10 more.

1925

The seven students who are daily attending classes at Burnt Ham Soup College have come to a deadlock over the fraternity question and due to their inability to agree as to whether the college should be non-frat or ultra-frat they have decided to drop their class work and take to the platform to argue their cause. The college president has a nice crop of turnip-greens growing on the campus and the buildings make good store houses.

1926

The president was buried in his front yard. An appropriate selection from "The Deserted Village" was inscribed on his tombstone. He died of starvation.

FINIS.

FRATERNITY DIRECTORY AND MEMBERSHIP QUALIFICATIONS

The fraternity group is limited according to home office rules, but the various chapters here are constantly expanding under a special grant of larger numbers until they can gain back their former political dominance and get enough money in their treasuries to build and furnish their various private klaverns.

The system of pledging new members is unique at our college. The freshmen who appear to be the best dressed for the first five or six days and are willing to take certain senior members to the various theaters and buy them a voluminous supper at Britling's afterwards are first investigated. Of course the step now taken is common to all fraternities all over the land, but for the benefit of those who are ignorant of the system the plan is here given. A letter is written back to an alumni member of the chapter that is about to pledge the victim at the home town of the victim. If the alumnus reports favorable the chap is conscripted. The differences that are deemed favorable are as follows: First, if his father has any money, no further questions are asked. Second, if he has no money, but can play any one of the sports to perfection, the fraternities can get him a job working for the college at room and board a month. Third, if he was in the first three scholastically at his high school and also has a rich relative, no questions are asked (there are very few of this type found). Fourth, if the pursued victim was the home town sheik and had his hair "marcelled" every week and his eyebrows pulled to the proper number, and possessed winning ways with the females, owned two work shirts of the backwoods type, or still possessed his grandfather's old corduroy breeches and a possible extra pair of shoes of the clodhopper variety, and had a figuratively speaking sweet but dumb look, then he was judged an excellent prospective pledge. Fifth, if his brother or father or uncle had been a sorry member, then it was naturally decided that the offspring was "a chip off the old block," and would be good enough as a member. Sixth, if the relatives of the besought had ever held any office in the village, from courthouse lounger and constable up to judge and sheriff, then he will be automatically selected. If a fellow can't come up to these qualifications, he is judged "haud sufficiens."

In order that the candidates may know which fraternity to make overtures to, the list of their respective desires of new member qualifications is given as follows:

A. T. O.—We crave athletics, dramaticists, beauty, and Money.

Pi K. A.—We want only athletes, suitable political material, no scholarship desired, and, of course, MONEY.

S. A. E.—We are trying to build up our athletic group, our pantry with the favorite "jellies," and need members who can help us pay off the mortgage with Money.

T. K. N.—Our house needs furnishing badly, our scholars nearly equal the number of the Pi K. A.'s (TWO); if you can wear your clothes well and put up a good front that is all that is necessary.

K. A.—We are out for quantity, not quality; our athletes easily become captains; our alumni at last are making money, but we want men with Money.

Phi A.—We also hope to be national some day. If your father is a furniture dealer—all right, we need some furniture to replace our burnt pieces. Money is the least of our worries since we pledged Mark. You know Mark's father is a Banker. Yet we like Money.

Application blanks may be secured at the bursar's office or from any of the fraternity members. Step up before the quota for this term is filled.

STUDENTS' COMMON BUILDING

This handsome structure, just completed this year, 1926, the Stewed and Sent It are very proud of. Feeling that it was alone their untiring effort which put across this masterful stroke of development across, the governing body took much pride in staging the dedication of the building, at which many prominent members of the Stewed and Sent It spoke. In this spacious Common Building there is ample room to study. Individual booths are made for those who like seclusion and they are very roomy for two. This is calculated to relieve the library of much congestion and give more space for those students who wish to use the table to study.

PRIDE OF THE CAMPUS

The front steps of this proud edifice, it will be noted, are widened unduly. This is to provide bountiful standing room for the sheiks who park on the heights and look out over the campus for their sheikesses. This, too, is figured to assist the librarian in her work of providing studying and reference facilities for students in the library. The traffic at the front of the library building will be greatly diminished. In this building will also be placed the pay telephone station. This move was made in order to enable the bookstore clerks to have room to wait on the customers without interference from nickel-diggers, who spend the day calling for busy numbers, hoping the operator will open the flood gates of coin and let the change roll. This handsome building is a creation of a peculiar blend of Spanish, Gothic, and Venetian architecture, and is one of the most modern Students' Common Buildings in the South. It is located on Burnt Ham Soup College campus.

YE COLLEGE LIFE

IN WHICH THE AUTHOR RELATES STARTLING CHARACTERISTICS OF THE MEMBERS OF THE FOUR ACADEMIC CLASSES

A soap-bubble bursts when it is touched; a mirage vanishes when approached; the horizon recedes if pursued, and the blue of the sky is colorless at close range. The rich say that wealth is deceiving, and the celebrities assert that fame is empty.

"Vanity of vanities," saith the preacher, "all is vanity."

There is no pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

How tragical to be always the discoverer!

Behold the freshman. Confident of his world, amazed at the apathy of upper class manhood, he proceeds to unveil knowledge for the benefit of those he deems to have been under-privileged. The sole response is sighs of long-suffering patience. Then sophomores reduce his ego and the world of solid realities begins to crumble.

The first shock of seeing himself as the victim of delusions is sickening, but he convalesces with a voracious appetite for more. About that time the seepage of knowledge begins its deadly work, and ere long his mountain of conceit avalanches into a bottomless pit. The universe appears in danger of collapse. He is seized with panicky fears. Old ambitions lose their cutting edge and dreams their glamor. He flounders onward because the present region is too ghastly for a stopping place.

As a sophomore he discovers that the world moves on despite, and develops a degree of cynicism. By mid-term he has grown a mania for iconoclasm, and wonders constantly how the world lives under such clouds of falsity. But ever and anon he inwardly trembles as some cherished tradition topples over the brink and is swept toward the port of missing ideas. He is eternally hungry for something and knows not that for which he yearns.

The junior becomes strongly suspicious that the whole thing is a mirage—this chaotic jumble called knowledge—and hastens to remove the traces of hysteria from his personality. It behooves him to make up his second year flunks and wrest a little respect from the erstwhile despicable instructors. It is here that all hope ceases. Because of the inexorable routine of a world too well established, the would-be bolshevik must become a well-oiled cog or be ground out. In this process of conformity the spark of greatness wanes and dies. The junior year is a belt of fire through which the embryo hero cannot pass. If the world would find a deliverer it must take a sophomore—crude, raw, and unpolished though he be!

Juniors are notorious intellectual cowards—not only refusing to accept the consequences of their thinking, but refusing to think any further. With a blase attitude they pour the cold water of insincere contempt on the moiling sophomores and reach out a hand of brotherhood to the freshman, whose verdant conceit they secretly envy, and whose disillusionment they vaguely deplore.

There is no hope for the juniors, nor can there ever be; they must needs become the fatted bourgeoisie that prop up the collegiate commonwealth.

Coming as a glorious climax to four years of a prescribed and proscribed process is the senior. But we have named it wrong—it is an anti-climax.

Behold the conqueror going forth to conquer. Leaving behind a trail of deserted ideals, shirked responsibilities, and unmastered technique, he goes out to become a builder of the social structure. Leaving student life the same as it was when Cain and Abel had the first Pan-Hellenic row, he goes out to revamp the world. For a more ludicrous figure, search the comics in vain.

But let us not blame the senior too bitterly, nor withhold his commencement laurels. Anyone who can stand it four years ought to have the flowers. And lest you should laugh at him too much, remember that your hour will come, with all the embellishments that time and Billiken-worship have to contribute. Poor fish, you will merely be a later model!

ALL-AMERICAN FACULTY TEAM

Left Tackle—DR. SNAVELY: He tackles anybody who has the dinero.

Left Guard—DR. TREXLER: He left Walla Walla, Washington, but the guard must have preceded him.

Center—PROF. BLACK: He plays a roving game not confined to solitary hikes to Red Mountain.

Right Guard—MISS GREGORY: She guards right conduct in the library with fierceness and tenacity.

Right Tackle—PROF. POSEY: He tackles anything right in history and throws it for a loss.

Right End—DEAN MEAD: He ends many collegiate careers.

Quarterback—PROF. ALEXANDER (Captain): He would lead us all to Glory.

Left Halfback—PROF. LOEHR: If he got any closer the malleus would hop on the incus and hammer out more vibrations than the stapes could carry off. (For reference work: Breese's Psychology).

Right Halfback—PROF. MOORE: He runs excellent interference; his work in the Sophomore-Freshman conflict is especially noteworthy.

Fullback—MISS WILSON: (At a formal social function).

Profs'. Team Best Ever

Realizing the tremendousness of the task and even hesitating to presume to select from the host of excellent material on hand a picked eleven which would rank higher than any other eleven in the squad, the Stewed and Sent It, after careful consideration and minute investigation, announces its choice of an All-American Faculty Eleven from our squad of knowledge dispensers.

Though in trembling we chose them, in loud praise we proclaim them, and defy any all-star faculty eleven from coast to coast to excel our selections in their picked fields. Though we feared, in making our choice, that some worthy candidate would be overlooked, if such be the case we promise that on our next quarter-centennial report the error will be rectified, but we fear no competition from outside.

At ends there is probably no bursar in the world who can boast of more alibis and bum checks received than Prof. Riddle, while he is selected especially for left end on account of being left flat on many occasions. At right end Dean Mead is no exponent of the proverb, "Everything is well that ends well" (if there is any such) for though he does a good job at ending collegiate careers, it is not always well for the endee.

Certainly at tackles our team cannot be surpassed. Undoubtedly, Dr. Snavely is the outstanding tackle of the year, never missing the money-carrier, and throwing him for loss after loss. There is no competition in Prof. Posey's class for tackling the right in history. If ever America put over a deal with fairness and faithfulness of policy, if ever an American historical figure was an upright gentleman, if ever a history writer put down in his works a correct account of a historical event, Posey's American History class will never discover the secret.

At guards we have chosen two strong candidates. Dr. Trexler, for left guard, is the outstanding choice, for the guards of his ward must have left before he departed from Walla Walla, or else how come he's here? If any proof is needed as to Miss Gregory's qualifications at right guard, start a hoarse-whisper conversation in the library.

At center we selected a small man, but one who is well qualified. Prof. Black plays a wide-range game, and his hikes to Red Mountain of a Sunday are not his main merits as a nominee for choice as a rover.

The only selection possible at quarterback and the outstanding bid for captain is Prof. Alexander. He is a veritable Moses attempting to lead the modern children of darkness from out a social wilderness by his "inspirational" talks and sermons in Bible I.

Left halfback goes to Prof. Loehr. We could not allow him closer range, for the prevalence of deafness where unduly loud noises are continually heard, forbids it. Public Speaking Class members are either immune or stone deaf.

Right halfback is an important position on the team. Prof. Moore wins the berth by his great ability as an interferer. As chairman of the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to "New Students," he ranks as leader of the interference against the Sophs in the Freshman-Sophomore melees.

The fullback position is awarded to Miss Wilson, for present-day styles demand a full back.

NEW SORORITY HOUSE

One of the greatest moves for the betterment of social life on the campus has been made during the past year in the movement of the sororities from out of the rooms in the college buildings on the campus and placing them in the fine new building situated at the corner of Eighth Avenue and College Street.

BOAST OF THE SORORITIES

As shown in the picture above, an architect's drawing (the architect was hired by the Stewed and Sent It), the new Sorority House is one of the most modern chicken houses in this district. Well ventilated with convenient communication with the outside world, plenty of liberty for spying on the next door neighbor or looking out to see whom the rival sorority girl is rushing, the new building is a masterpiece of artistry. The Stewed and Sent It feel well pleased over their work in furnishing the co-eds with such a well-appointed Sorority House. The removal from the classroom halls will insure against blocking of the hallways by the college sheiks, and having the sororities all in the same house together will better facilitate their fighting. It will not be necessary to seek long for the sought-for rival, and restricting the battle ground to one house should make the war wax warmer. Then catty remarks can be more easily overheard, and thus the battle will be better stimulated. Truly, this was a masterful move by the Stewed and Sent It.

SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE TEST

NOTE: The Stewed and Sent It is conducting this test in order to determine the percentage of morons and imbeciles to be found in the modern co-educational college. Please answer questions backwards, turning the tops of all letters down, on the back side of this page, using only one side of the paper. The questions are taken from history, current events, and vital statistics.

1. Isn't it a proof of greater patriotism in our present day for the fact that if Paul Revere should ride down any road in the dead of night crying, "To Arms! To Arms!" that he would find ambushed automobiles all along the way with people already up in arms?

6. If Nero had used a saxophone instead of a fiddle at the Burning of Rome wouldn't have been a hotter affair if so how many?

3. If fifteen pirates on a man's chest in olden days killed him instead the modern flapper proof that piracy has passed from our midst?

17. What is a giraffe party, if so who is it?

9. If a bear raid on the markets runs stocks down and a bullish movement tends to make them ascend should any student who can bear the bull shot in classrooms without a change be ineligible for the Carnegie Hero Medal?

77. If Sally was found at three o'clock in the morning all alone singing cheating on me doing the tramp, tramp, tramp act near the end of the long dusty road would it necessarily influence the current quotations on roller skates?

13. If the course of true love never runs straight and a cross-eyed gril may be straight but looks crooked isn't it evidence enough that it's a lucky man who entices a pop-eyed girl to the altar?

THUMB-NAIL SKETCHES OF A FOOTBALL TRIP TO FLORIDA

Station: Kiss all the girls good-bye. Several hundred of the fair sex saw us off (but they didn't come especially for that). Few tears are shed. Grating sound, as rending of coarse cloth, as hearts are torn at parting. Lovelorn seek secluded corners.

Pullman: Will bring suit for false pretense. Alleged Pullman was formerly used as a barn on large form in South Alabama, but high wind blew structure on railroad track and the agility shown by it in navigating induced the Pullman people to put wheels under it. Manager Branscomb highly complimented on all sides for excellent selection.

Baggage Car: Many players retired to baggage car to further investigate eccentricities of a railroad man's life. Several Howard College players (who had presumed to stick a car on the end of the train just before leaving time) joined in the inspection of the baggage room. Inspection cost several players heavily.

Anniston: 7 P.M. Everybody in bed sleeping soundly in Manager Branscomb's home town.

Atlanta: Bananas and apples in station. Town not impressing.

Berth: No accidents reported in players climbing to uppers, though Roy Long refused to ascend to his bunking quarters, giving as his reason that only chickens, where he came from, roosted at night.

Jacksonville: Trains backed up for miles. Railroad traffic jammed. While whiling away the hours someone thoughtlessly brought out a football and began throwing it around—a footfall on a trip to Florida!

Observation Car: Plenty of scenery sprayed with Spanish moss.

Lakeland: Nice looking little city. Dean Spivey at the station. Good looking girls at Southern College!

Game: Not so good. Backfield men doing Charleston too much behind line of scrimmage. Sand plenty deep.

The Aftermath: It's cheaper down here and has a wonderful kick, even in the smell. Time called out on six regulars.

Return: A day in Jacksonville; trip to St. Augustine; dip in the ocean, sans clothes, sans bathing suits, duck under water at approach of automobile; porpoises mistaken for sharks, general rout.

Glad to be home.

RED ELLIOTT IN STARTLING CONFESSION TO HILLTOPPERS

SORREL-TOPPED STUDENT SPRINGS INTO NATIONAL RECOGNITION OVER NIGHT

One of the epoch-making revelations of the age was recently given to mankind when Mr. Barnes Elliott, appropriately called "Red," revealed to his fellow collegemates the causes and effects of his "capillus flammeus" (Latin for sorrel top). In a dissertation on "Hair and Hair Colors," written as a term paper for Dr. W. C. Jones' Genetics Class, Mr Elliott disproved all the commonly accepted theories of the authoritative biologists and geneticists on hair color, and promulgated his theory that will probably revolutionize the hair-dyeing industry. Mr. Elliott goes into explanatory accounts of his acquisition of a sorrel top, and makes several startling disclosures of his early experiments in his research laboratory. This masterpiece is too volminous to be given in detail here, so the Rogers-Short Campus Gazette has purchased the pupblication rights and will collaborate with the American Society for the Advancement of Science and the American Genetic Society in the publication of the thesis in book form. Only a brief summary of the main features will be given here.

Mr. Elliott states that in his early youth his hair had a sort of Scandinavian exposure to it, commonly called towhead or chestnut top in the near-rnral circles. Being a precocious child, as all geninses are, he early withdrew from the common run of ignats of Moundville, Ala., and at the age of five developed a mania for red or rather scarlet colored hair. With his far advanced intellect he set about to find a way to permanently change his hair to a beautiful sunburst prismatic Aurora Borealis color.

The steps he took before the great find was made are interesting. His first step was to go bareheaded all day in the sun. This gave a brilliant effect. Later he carefully lemonized his locks with citric juices. This gave a deeper tint. Peroxide was procured and the hair shampooed. This gave a pretty sunstroke effect commonly called a country sand. He then found the marvel. He accidentally fell down in his vegetable garden and his head struck and became the complement of an over-ripe tomato, which spread its lucious juices over his cranium. He was unable to move for about an hour, so his head was exposed to the sun When he came to, he went to the mirror and lo, he beheld his hair possessed a glorious blood red color, the kind he had always desired. He tried to wash the tomato congealment from his scalp, but only a part was removable; the other remaining as pigments. At last the discovery was made; the color effect was permanent. Disliking the dull red, he next rubbed listerine, the annihilator of halitosis, into his gory locks, and the beautiful color you now see emblazoned on the campus was the sensational result. For this use of listeriae, the Lambert Pharmaceutical Company has paid him $50,000, and a royalty of two cents on each bottle sold henceforth. This revealed secret that Mr. Elliott has made to science will soon replace the "henna" industry. It is much cheaper to buy a bottle of "Listerinated Catsup" from your neighborhood druggist than pay the cost of a beauty parlor treatment.

Dr. Snavely has announced that Mr. Elliott may receive his B.S. degree without further study or class work or examinations as a reward for the publicity the college has received. As soon as Mr. Elliott has sold enough of his new patent hairdressing to amount to several million dollars, Dr. Snavely will confer on him, provided he makes the usual donation of $100,000 to the college, the degree of "Doctor of Cinerarius."

MEMORIAL SERVICES MARKED PASSING OF McSWEENEY HALL

PROF. RIDDLE WAS ABSCONDER OF ENORMOUS PROFITS, INVESTIGATION SHOWS

Conclave non plus est, so passeth the old dining hall. The new year ushered in more than the customary new year resolutions, inventories and season greetings. With the passing of the dining hall came the advent of the new cafeteria. "The old yields place to the new."

One of the war centers of the college life for years ceased to exist at the beginning of the new year when the old scrambling house called McSweeney Hall was abandoned as an eating place The abandonment of McSweeney Hall came almost coincident with the marriage of Dr. Harris, Professor of Landscape Gardening and Boiler Repairing. Doc said that he was so grieved at the passing of his old pal that he decided to start a hash house of his own. There is a tone of sadness and regret that comes over the campus as our thoughts go drifting back to that old hash house of ours. This spirit was so manifest that the Dormitory Committee decided to commemorate the passing with a fitting program. This exercise was held January 5, 1926, A. D.

The poor athletes once more wore their soiled togas of one-time white duck. The boarding students, after practicing for a day, groomed themselves with their hungriest countenances. Their brows were bedecked with wrinkles of reckless anticipation, and expectant appetites awaiting disappointment. At 12:40 p.m., as usual, the service was five minutes late, the dinner bell tolled its ghastly call to all starving customers to form in line. To the tune of Chopin's "Funeral March," the diners marched in to their respective places and awaited the blessing. It was thanks that we had lived thus long. To get up an appetite, Professor Marvin Maurice Black led the boys in singing that old familiar hymn, "We're Fasting on the Mountain." As the nickelware began to clank, Baby Childs, erstwhile head waiter, called on different ones to give selected speeches and the group to sing the favorite songs. Reverend Rudolph Scott gave an indigestible dissertation on hash. This was followed by the group singing "That Old Hash House of Mine."

Next on the program was a financial report of the enormous profits that were thought to have been made. To the utter amazement of the college students, it was learned that the profit, that was to have been given to the "Unmarried Teachers' Fund," had been absconded The first thought was that our arch profiteer, "Steve" Tyndal, was the guilty scoundrel. Upon further investigation by that genius of all sleuths, Bishop Calhoun, Chairman of the Dormitory Committee, it was found that the money had been paid to Dr. Alexander as the first payment on his $10,000 Studebaker car. It was also discovered that the absconder of the profits was none other than our own Natalie Gilbert Riddle, the bursar. The case has been given to the grand jury, but little can be expected from it, since they let the late city commissioner and present members of the Board of Revenue go unmolested and unconvicted.

The next number on the program, after the excitement had subsided, was a reading, "Potatoes, Potatoes, We Ate Thee Every Hour." A chaser for this selection was another feeling song entitled, "Dessert, Oh, How I Miss You Today." Then came the parting of this melancholy party. Wubberly Wubberly Ma Hale led us in singing our latest parody, a few verses of which are given below:

"Gone are the days when my food was skimp and slack,
Gone are the days when my stomach met my back,
Gone are my friends to a better place I know—
I hear a gentler voice calling, O Cafeteria!"

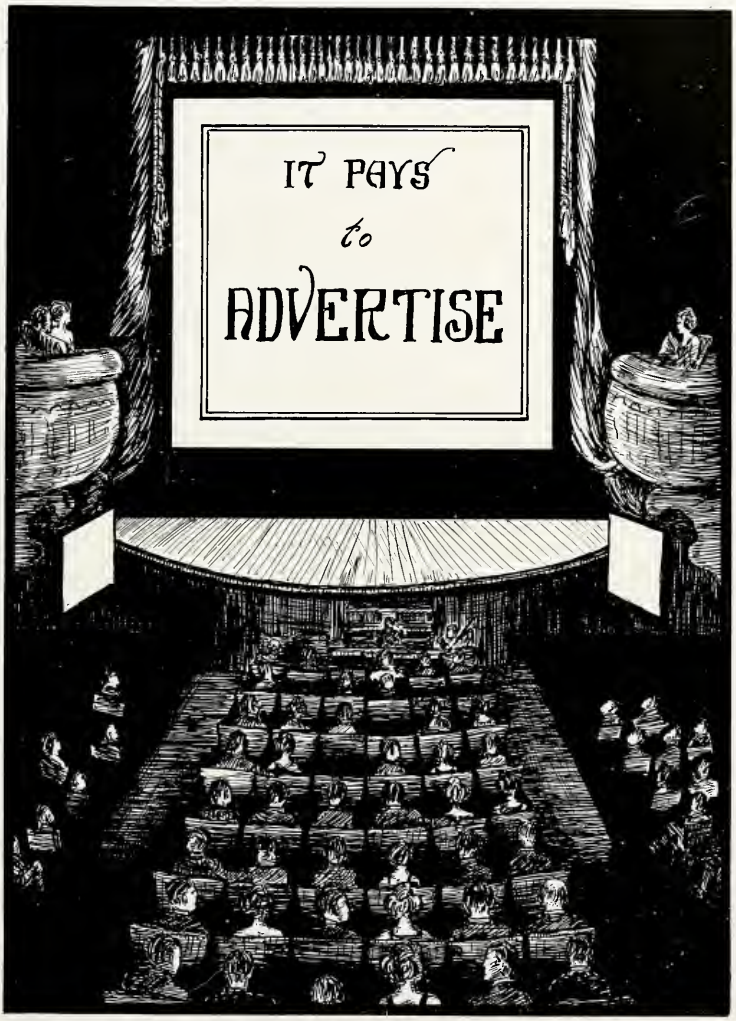

FULLINGTON NOT TO SUCCEED SNAVELY

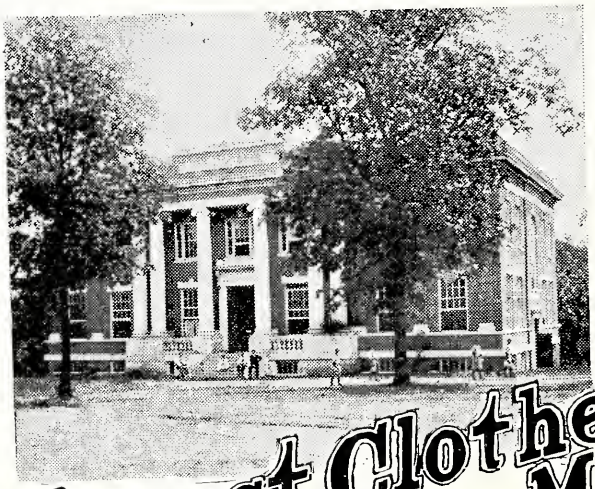

Rumors that Irving E. Fullington had accepted an offer to succeed Dr. Guy E. Snavely as president of the college were vigorously denied tonight by Mr. Fullington.

"I am not in a position to say whether such an overture has been made to me," Mr. Fullington told the reporter, "but I would not think of accepting it. Mr. Snavely tries hard and, while he may lack my natural ability, he has done very well. Furthermore, Mr. Snavely is a man in the prime of life, with a large family. I am still in my early thirties.

"When I gave up my commissions in the Boy Scouts," continued Mr. Fullington, or 'Senator,' as he is known to his host of friends and well wishers, "I was made a very flattering offer by a large jewelry firm. But I knew I was needed at Birmingham-Southern and, now that I have put the student body upon a sound basis, I am going to devote my time to adjusting the business affairs of the nation."

SUCCESSFUL YEARS

Wheeler Business College has rendered a distinct service, not only to Birmingham proper, but the entire South for the past thirty-seven years. Today we can give you the same efficient training as always, aided by expert specialists as teachers, modern methods and complete and up-to-date equipment.

WHEELER BUSINESS COLLEGE

(1911 to 1921 First Avenue)

sends out annually into the business world over seven hundred students, and receives between nine hundred and a thousand applications for office help each year. Wheeler is the only business college in the State of Alabama duly authorized by law to grant degrees in business, and is accredited by the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools. Tens of thousands of former students attest the fact that it pays to get a Wheeler business training.

$300,000 TO EDUCATION

Do you know what becomes of the money which you pay Alabama Power Company for your light, gas and street car service?
In 1924, Alabama Power Company paid into state, county and city treasuries

$672,838 IN TAXES

In addition to taxes, this amount included various license fees and other items of expense necessary to secure the right to do businss in Alabama. Of this amount

$251,597 WENT TO EDUCATION

Added to this were certain portions of the $208,832 paid by this company into the state and 33 county general funds, special contributions to schools and colleges, operation and maintenance of company schools, free scholarships and city school taxes, making the total paid by this company to the cause of education approximately $300,000.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ON THE NEW STANDARD "SENIOR-GRADUATE" CLASS RING

Birmingham Southern can now boast of having a class ring surpassed in beauty and quality by no other college in the country, a ring truly representative of our good school. They are now built by Herff-Jones Co., Indianapolis, Indiana, exclusive college and school jewelers of excellent reputation. They come in two types, the large or regular for the fellows and co-ed, or miniature for the girls.

Every senior and graduate should wear this distinguished class ring as a lasting and always visible class emblem, not only recognized by our students, but by others. Only Seniors and Alumni are allowed to wear this ring, thus possessing real significance and distinction.

ALUMNI

Arrangements have been made to furnish rings to any alumnus any time after graduation. Just write the Secretary of the senior class or direct to the company, giving graduation date, degree, size, and name to be engraved inside.

GUARANTEE

Every ring is permanently guaranteed against imperfect workmanship and material, in which case repair is made, no charge. If injury is the fault of the student, repair is made at actual cost of materials. The factory earnestly requests that any ring requiring service be sent to them to insure satisfaction and saving.

THERE ISN'T MUCH MORE

You're right, Ignatz, this ol' book is about run out. But where, gentle reader, you may ask? That's your question, though, and since we've had to account for everything up to here, you'll have to saunter elsewhere for the answer.

Anyhow, it's like this: We're running short of material for this ending, and can't find a bit of extra copy floating around any place. So Smith (he's the boy that looked after the "rake-off" of this aforesaid book) says to yours sincerely, 'Sherwood, why in the name of space (uh-huh, those were his words, exactly) don't you write something, and fill up this page?"

And this is the result. Anyhow, if we've fooled you this far, console yourself and turn over and read the ending, and you will have finished the 1926 REVUE.

Finis

Last page turned,
Rest well earned,
Flame low-burned,
Wavers;
Wan worn life,
Spent with strife,
Flares, yet rife—
Quavers?

Hope, still sweet,
Naught complete,
Dreams replete—
Living;
This retreat
Spells defeat,
Life so fleet—
Giving!

Back, dull night,
Death of sight,
Vision's blight,
Vanish!
Flare, faint light!
Flare, flame, bright!
Vision's blight
Banish!

Softly the dawn steals over the trees,
Shell-pink and rosy it colors the breeze;
Breeze scatters light where darkness had been,
Shadows retreat to the murky fen;
Stars fade out with the coming of morn,
Better the day than their gleam forlorn!
